New Crop of Hornets Touch Down

It was time for the baby Hornets to spread their wings and immerse themselves in all things Clontarf

Our new Year 7 boys in the program participated in their first Clontarf camp, held this week at the Stockton Surf Life Saving Club.

The new Hornets started with a visit to Bunnings, where they toured the worksite and learned about the different roles involved in building and construction. A health and wellbeing session with a Stockton Beach lifeguard followed, teaching the boys valuable lessons about beach safety and how to stay safe in the surf.

The camp also featured plenty of outdoor activities. The boys enjoyed a swim at the Newcastle Ocean Baths and Nobby's Beach, cooling off before treating themselves to ice cream in the beautiful weather. They took part in Clontarf leadership activities, including icebreakers and games to help them bond and get to know each other better.

The fun continued with a trip to Putt Putt mini golf in Broadmeadow and a delicious Subway lunch to wrap up the camp. It was a memorable experience full of learning, laughter, and new friendships. We couldn't have been more impressed with the boys on their first ever Clontarf camp.

Harry Ferguson was awarded 'Top Camper' and will enjoy a lunch of his choice next week.
